Synopsis Books:

A clash of wills between predatorsâ€¦ Heâ€™s been living underground for a long time, but the only thing guaranteed to bring Daniel Nieto back to the surface is the identity of his wifeâ€™s killer. With the whisper of one name, he puts it all on the line for vengeance. Heâ€™s got plans for Stavros Konstantinou. The title of monster fits too well for Stavros to want to be anything other than what he is. Time spent in Daniel Nietoâ€™s dungeon, chained and tortured, will never change that. Starved of food, sunlight and freedom, he waits for an opening to turn the tables on the only man whoâ€™s ever come close enough to scare him. Somewhere between the slide of knife against skin, and the drip of blood on cold concrete, things change. Grief and hatred collide with lust and obsession, and this time Daniel and Stavros are on the same side. This time, theyâ€™re fighting a losing battle against a connection forged by much more than a love of violence and bloodshed. In a war this bloodied, what do you do when the bodies start hitting the floor? Warning: Gun play, knife play, blood play, breath play. Non Con, Dub Con. Water sports. Triggers
